Winter is coming! So are the events and competition!

Winter's coming and so is the competition! The brooms are out, the ice is keen, and curling energy is sweeping across the province and country. Fresh off the success of the PointsBet Invitational hosted in Calgary, the momentum is unmistakable. The excitement continues to build with the BKT World Women's Curling Championship returning to WinSport in 2026.

With the next Olympic Winter Games fast approaching, every end feels a little sharper and every sweep a little stronger. The road to Milano Cortina is underway, curlers and fans everywhere can feel the surge of anticipation. Good luck to the teams striving to be Olympians during the Curling Trials in Halifax, Nova Scotia.

Upcoming Curling Highlights:

- 2025 Canadian Olympic Curling Trials — November 22–30, 2025
- Alberta Men's & Woman's Curling Championship, presented by, Best Western & Sentinal Storage (Okotoks, AB), January 5-11, 2026
- Curling Day in Canada — January 31, 2026
- 2026 Olympic Winter Games (Milano Cortina, Italy) — February 4–22, 2026
- BKT World Women's Curling Championship (WinSport, Calgary) — March 14–22, 2026

Thank you to those who attended Curling Alberta's AGM in September. As a result, we have successful nominations for 5 new Curling Alberta Directors at Large.

From the club sheets to the world stage, this season promises to deliver the drama, passion, and pride that make Curling Alberta's true winter heartbeat. - Curling Alberta Management & Board

CURLING ALBERTA AWARDS

Curling Alberta proudly celebrated excellence across the province at this year's 2025 Curling Alberta Awards Ceremony on October 18th.

A heartfelt thank-you to Gateway Entertainment Centre for being such fantastic hosts, from the delicious meal to the welcoming atmosphere, it was the perfect setting to celebrate Alberta's curling excellence.

This year, we proudly recognized 13 provincial champions and 10 outstanding award recipients whose passion, dedication, and teamwork strengthen our curling community every season.

Congratulations to our 2025 Award Winners:

- Coach of the Year: Chris Power
- Instructor of the Year: McKenzie McElhinney
- Official of the Year: Larry Jensen
- Club of the Year: Fairview Curling Club
- Volunteer of the Year: Rosella Plaquin
- Youth Sportsmanship Award: Austin Hennig
- Partner of the Year: UFA
- Ice Technician of the Year: Ron Cutting
- Team of the Year: Team Ford Johnston
- President's Award: Steve Young

Each recipient truly embodies the spirit of curling; commitment, sportsmanship, and community.

Thank you to everyone who submitted nominations and helped us celebrate these remarkable individuals and teams. Stay tuned to our social channels as we spotlight each winner in the coming weeks!

A special thank-you to our MC, Jackie Rae, whose energy and enthusiasm made it a night to remember. As she retires from 840 CFCW Edmonton after more than 40 incredible years, we celebrate not only her legendary broadcasting career but also her deep connection to curling, from Junior Canadians to the Scotties, Seniors, and most recently, Masters gold with Team Santos.

Jackie Rae's passion and wit have lit up countless Curling Alberta events. Congratulations on this well-deserved milestone, Jackie, and thank you for everything you've done for curling in Alberta and beyond.

GET READY TO, HIT, DRAW OR TAP!

Calling all curling clubs! It's time to register for this year's Hit, Draw, Tap Program.

Curling Canada's Hit Draw Tap (HDT) program is a fun, youth development skills competition where kids aged 6-12 compete as individuals. Participants are grouped into three age categories where they can test their skills in three shots: a Hit, a Draw, and a Tap.

Curling clubs are encouraged to host a HDT competition as part of their Junior Program or as an initiative to drive youth participation in your facility. Once your club is registered, we'll send everything you need to host a local Hit Draw Tap including rules, score sheets, promotional materials, and more. After your local competition, simply enter the scores online and your top curlers could advance to the Provincial Shootout on February 28th at the Red Deer Curling Centre!

Key Dates:

- Scores due: February 1 @ 11:59 pm
- Provincial Shootout: February 28 at the Red Deer Curling Centre

Don't miss out! This is one of the most fun ways to get young curlers hooked on the sport!

Register your club today at <https://forms.monday.com/forms/715a18cc6aef6ecd972ca331162ba92d?r=use1!>

MEN & WOMEN'S 2026 PROVINCIALS COMBINED TICKET SALES

Alberta's Best Head to Okotoks for Historic 2026 Provincial Championships – Tickets Now Available!

Curling fans, mark your calendars! For the first time ever, Alberta's top men's and women's teams will battle side-by-side in one thrilling, week-long championship. The 2026 Alberta Men's and Women's Curling Championships, presented by Best Western and Sentinel Storage, take place January 5–11, 2026, at the Murray Arena in Okotoks Recreation Centre — and tickets are on sale now!

Hosted at the Murray Arena at the Okotoks Recreation Centre, this landmark event will see 24 elite teams (12 men's, 12 women's) compete for the honour of representing Alberta at the 2026 Montana's Brier and Scotties Tournament of Hearts.

While a combined championship was held during the pandemic, this will be the first with live spectators, giving fans the chance to cheer on top contenders like Team Selena Sturmey, Team Kevin Koe, Team Evan Van Amsterdam, and Team Plett (pending qualification).

"Bringing our provincial championships together is more than a new format — it's a celebration of community, excellence, and the future of curling in Alberta," said Jill Groves, Executive Director of Curling Alberta.

With support from the Okotoks Curling Club, local businesses, and volunteers, the town is gearing up to host an unforgettable celebration of the sport.

"Our community is buzzing with excitement," said Hillary Selkirk, Host Chair. "We can't wait to show the province what makes Okotoks special."

"This championship will spotlight not only the incredible skill of Alberta athletes, but the power of curling to bring people together," added Britney Andersen, Director of Operations at Curling Alberta.

"DON'T WRITE YOURSELF OFF"

Girls Rock presented by Scotties, a national program introduces girls to the sport in a fun, confidence-building environment. (Photo, Curling Canada / Doris Weir)

Cori Morris on lessons behind Girls Rock - Article by Jolene Latimer, Credit: Curling Canada.

As a child in Lanigan, Saskatchewan, she was pigeon-toed and faced a choice: wear a metal bar with corrective shoes or learn to skate. "It looked horrific," she said of the brace. "Fortunately, my parents opted for skating. You can't possibly skate pigeon-toed."

From there, sport became her outlet. She joined figure skating in the small-town rink, fell in love with the rhythm of skating figures, and chased the thrill of landing her first axel. At recess, she played soccer with the boys until organized girls' teams became available, later joining volleyball despite admitting she "wasn't very good, but loved it." She practiced running on the roads of her family farm, where her dad measured out distances so she could sprint back and forth. "The beauty of sport is that when you put work into it, you can fairly quickly see the results," she said. "That was huge for me."

Morris didn't see herself as the standout athlete at school—more academic than all-star- but she chased every opportunity. "School came pretty easy to me, so I was probably known more as an academic than an athlete," she said. "I was never the first one picked for a team, but I was solid, and I participated in a ton of sports."

By the end of high school her effort was noticed when she was nominated for Senior Athlete of the Year. She didn't win, but the recognition stuck with her. "The award that absolutely meant the most to me," she said. "I had to work so hard for it. It was wonderful to be recognized for my efforts."

For Morris, sport was never just about medals or championships. "Sport was about persistence, about seeing what you could do if you pushed yourself. That's what mattered," she said.

Curling entered the picture as the family sport, picked up around age 10, but Morris didn't take it seriously until much later. After university in Ottawa, she curled casually with friends from her soccer team, then joined a local club. By her late 20s she was competing, qualifying for provincials, and eventually moving to Calgary, where her career took off. "Not your typical curling pathway," she said. Still, that late start didn't stop her from reaching the pinnacle: standing on the podium with Team Cheryl Bernard after winning silver at the 2010 Vancouver Olympics.

Through Girls Rock, Morris is encouraging young girls to discover the joy of the sport (Photo, Curling Canada/Jamie Allen)

Now based in Calgary and with Curling Alberta, Morris is focused on shaping opportunities for others. Through Girls Rock presented by Scotties, a program that was developed and piloted by Women in Curling before becoming a Curling Canada national youth engagement program, she's encouraging young girls to discover the joy of sport—and the courage to try something new—through curling.

New this season, affiliated curling centres can request access to the full program resource from Curling Alberta. Reach out to Cori Morris, Relationship Manager, Curling Alberta for more information or click HERE to learn more.

FROM REGIONAL ROOTS TO NATIONAL PODIUMS

Curling Alberta's New Era of Competitive Development

Curling Alberta is redefining the province's competitive curling landscape with its Regional High Performance & Development Program - a strategic initiative guiding athletes from grassroots to national success.

Operating out of the Saville Centre (Edmonton) and Okotoks Curling Club (near Calgary), the program supports U18 to U25 athletes through structured training, expert coaching, and competition funding. With nine teams already engaged, it's setting a new benchmark for excellence.

Pathways to Podium

The program offers tailored streams, including U18 development camps - ensuring fair access and alignment with national standards. Athletes commit to rigorous training and performance benchmarks, backed by Curling Alberta's expert staff.

U18 Development Camps

This season, Curling Alberta is hosting four U18 development camps tailored for athletes at the Learn to Compete stage. Designed and facilitated by ACP Teaching Professionals, these one-day camps offer expert instruction for athletes and mentorship opportunities for coaches.

- Who: U18 curlers of any gender looking to improve their skills
- Cost: $150 per athlete; coaches attend free with a team

Locations & Dates:

- Saville Centre: Dec 20, 2025 - Register HERE for Saville
- Okotoks: Feb 21, 2026 - Register HERE for Okotoks

Growing the Game

Beyond athlete development, the program fosters broader community growth by creating clear, equitable pathways to high-performance curling. Curling Alberta invites sponsors to help shape the future of the sport and inspire the next generation.

Glass Curling Rocks FORGED IN FIRE

Glass Roots was commissioned by Curling Alberta to create a collection of handcrafted crystal curling stones in the organization's signature blue and gold colours. Each piece was blown and sculpted from hot crystal made in the studio's furnace, in Saint John, NB. Blending traditional techniques with vibrant, custom-mixed colours to reflect the spirit of the sport and the club. In addition to the set, Curling Alberta also commissioned a special large curling rock as a retirement gift –crafted in clear crystal and encased with bullicante bubbles, it features subtle swirls of the curling club's colours blue and gold, making it a striking and meaningful tribute.
